

Keep It Clean: Key steps to sanitation in the greenhouse

Sanitation is the foundation of IPM. Any time you can prevent a pest issue, you don't have to control it! But sanitation is one of those things that are easy to forget when you get busy. We'll review some of the key steps for greenhouse sanitation to help you fit it into your production schedule.

1. Consider the source – what are you trying to prevent and how does that change what you do
2. Think broadly – beyond the most obvious surfaces to those easier to forget places
3. Fill your toolbox with tools – what can you use or do to help make sanitation easier